Protection:

This is not only my first Digimon poem, but also the very first poem I've ever written! See if you can guesse who it is about!

I see you laying there sleeping, never moving, hardly peeping

I worry about you every day wondering if you're okay.

I promised our parents I would protect you and I will, with all I can do.

Courage, Friendship, Hope, Light,

they don't mean a thing, unless you're all right.

As you and the rest sleep

close to you I shall keep.

I lay next to you and I whisper

"I love you, my little sister."

End

file.
